

SCRAP BOOK

Canadian People:

Canadian

THE QUINTS TAKE THE AIR—The sisters Dionne outside their Callander, Ont., nursery. Left to right, Emilie, Yvonne, Cecile, Annette, Marie.

World copyright 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

'We Will Remember Them'

The above picture shows Calgary's great war memorial, where thousands attended the Remembrance Day service today.

Dr. Grenfell

Ontario Government House to Be Closed

Chesley Park, Ontario's government house, shown above, will be closed and only sufficient staff retained to keep the house and grounds in good order until a purchaser can be found when Lieutenant-Governor H.A. Bruce, left, below, retires December 1, Premier Hepburn, right, below, said today. The mansion, since 1915 residence of Ontario's lieutenant-governors, has not yet brought any offers of purchase, said the premier. He doubted the building could be used for any provincial institution. Pictures of any historical value will be taken to Queen's Park and some furniture will be moved to the Speaker's quarters in the legislative building. Remainder of the contents will be sold at public auction. Frills and pomp will be dispensed with when Ontario's new lieutenant-governor, Albert E. Matthews, centre, below, formally opens the first session of the province's 20th legislature on December 1. The King's representative will wear morning clothes instead of the customary Windsor uniform. There will be no state procession to the legislative buildings for the opening, no booming guns in salute. The lieutenant-governor will not be met at the main entrance by a guard of honor and no escort will lead the way to the legislative chamber. "We got along very well with only one formal opening of the last legislature in three years," Premier Hepburn said today. "I think we can very well do without them altogether."

DR. DAFOE

Senator Arthur Meighen — "has forgotten the accents of the West."

Hon. A.B. Bennett

CALGARY'S MAYORALTY CANDIDATES

ALD. A. J. E. LIESEMER

ALD. A. J. E. Liesemer, Labor candidate for the mayoralty, is 31 years of age and was born at Didbury, his people being pioneers who moved from Bruce County, Ontario, to Alberta in 1906. He was educated at Didbury and Calgary and graduated from the University of Alberta with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Economics in 1927 and as Master of Arts in Economics in 1929. He taught school at Didbury and Macleod High school and for one year studied banking with the Royal Bank of Canada under a scheme to train young men for executive positions. He resigned from the bank to resume teaching and is now on the staff at Crescent Heights High school, where he teaches economics, geography and ancient history. He is at present serving his third year as a Labor alderman.

MAYOR ANDREW DAVISON

Andrew Davison, mayor of Calgary for the past eight years, was born at Monaghan, County Londonderry, Northern Ireland, and came out to Alberta as a prospector with his parents in 1896. He has continued to live in the province, chiefly at Calgary, although he did reside at Edmonton, where he received his public school and high school education. He also attended a business college at Winnipeg. A printer by trade, he entered civic public life in 1921 when he was elected to council. Taking his seat in 1922, he was re-elected twice, but retired with an uncompleted term to contest the mayoralty in 1927, being defeated by F. E. Osborne. The following year he was returned to council and after serving one year he was elected mayor by acclamation in 1929 and has continued in that office to the present time.

ALD. J. W. GILLMAN

ALD. J. W. Gillman, Independent, mayoralty candidate, was born of Irish parents at Moosomin, Saskatchewan. After receiving his early education at Moosomin he graduated from University of Manitoba and also from Queen's University, Kingston, Ont. He enlisted at Vernon, B.C., during the war but did not serve overseas. He later became Alberta provincial manager of the National Insurance Company and at present is provincial manager of the Occidental Insurance Company. He has completed a two-year term on council. Two years ago was provincial president of the Alberta Football Association. He also operated the Shamrock hockey team in the junior city league. For 20 years he was with the Royal Bank of Canada, finally as inspector.

Above, J. W. Fry, former Edmonton alderman, who was elected mayor of the capital city in yesterday's vote by a 3,000 majority over his nearest opponent, Joseph A. Clarke (below), mayor for the last three years.

Ox Cart Rolls Out of the Red River Valley

One of the last of the wooden, two-wheeled Red River carts, used in the early days of the west for freighting, is seen at top with its owner, Robert McElride, Roblin rancher, and the huge red ox that draws it. Strangely enough the outfit is headed eastward, and is travelling by rail. Mr. McElride is taking his cart and ox to exhibit them at the Toronto Royal Winter Fair.

CANADIANS GO TO CONFERENCE

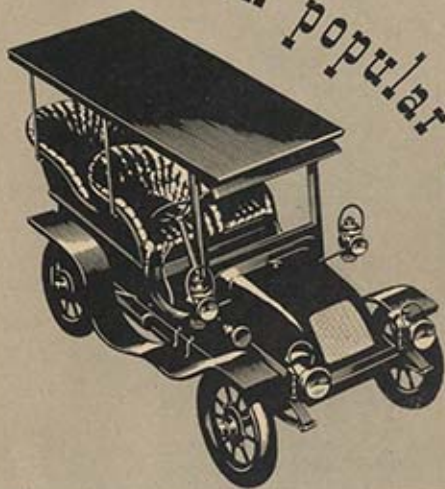

Members of the Canadian delegation to the Nine-Power Conference are shown as they left Paris for Brussels. Left to right are Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister in Paris; Senator Raul Dargatzidis, permanent delegate at the League of Nations for Canada; and Francois de Tesson, Belgian Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

LORD TWEEDSMUIR sits for Madame Silvercruys-Farnham, who recently made the governor-general's likeness in metal. Madame Silvercruys-Farnham is the official hostess for her brother, Baron Silvercruys, the Belgian minister to Canada.

—Photograph by Keith Brown.

Even when popular cars looked like this

A CANADIAN SENTRY AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE
One of the Canadian Coronation Contingent (right) taking over from one of the Guards on Sunday.

These Men Hold Fate of Europe

PREMIER CHAMBERLAIN

REICHSFUEHRER HITLER

PREMIER DALADIER

PREMIER MUSSOLINI

The leaders (shown above) of Britain, France, Germany and Italy will meet tomorrow in Munich to make a last effort for peace.

FIELD
to rise fermat
in 1915
was

British People

WILLIAM HARVEY

LOUIS PASTEUR

LORD JOSEPH LISTER

are not always resplendent in formal attire and recent visit to the Welsh mining district King Elizabeth found it necessary to don the practical ed in above. This week Their Majesties enjoyed courtship in the Hertfordshire countryside at St. They were the guests of the Queen's brother, yon and his wife.

Acme photo

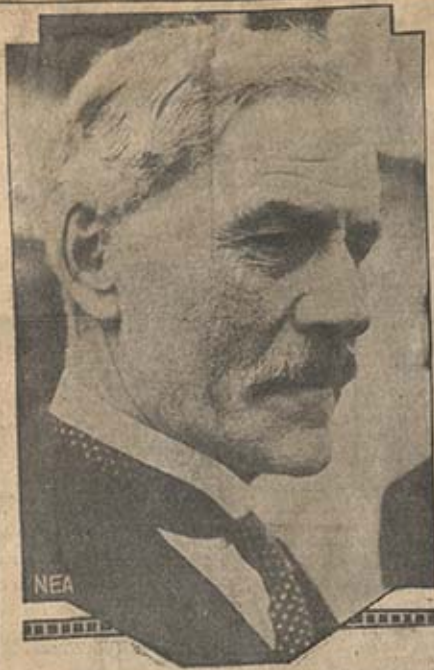

FIELD MARSHAL SIR WILLIAM ROBERTSON, only man ever to rise from British ranks to a field marshal's baton, became quartermaster general of the 1914 expeditionary force to France. In 1915 he was appointed chief of the imperial general staff, but was relieved from that office in 1918. He died in 1933.

Britain's China Envoy Sails for Java

An excellent picture of Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, taken on his departure from Shanghai for a period of convalescence in Java, is shown above. The British ambassador to China was shot and seriously wounded by a Japanese airman who rained the envoy's car with machine-gun fire on the Shanghai-Nanking road.

DIES ON FIRST 'CARE-FREE' VACATION

Just a year to the day after he had collapsed at a banquet for the Lord Mayor of London in Guildhall, Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor and National Government prime minister of England, died suddenly on board a liner in the Atlantic off Bermuda Tuesday evening, while on what he had termed the first "care-free" holiday of his life.

DUKE AND DUCHESS IN WALES

The Duke of Kent, as Prior of the Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem (priory for Wales), and the Duchess of Kent, as Lady-superintendent-in-chief for Wales, held an investiture at the city hall on the occasion of a two-day visit to Cardiff. Their Royal Highnesses are shown in the robes of the Grand Order.

This charming portrait of Princess Margaret Rose of York, by Mr. Edmund Brock, the well-known portrait painter, is the first picture of the King's younger grand-daughter to be exhibited at the Royal Academy, where it is to be seen in Gallery V. Painted in a manner reminiscent of Romney, the great 18th-century artist, the portrait will attract the admiration of visitors to the exhibition, which will be opened to the public on Monday afternoon.

GREETINGS.—The Duke of Connaught being received on arrival at Caxton Hall to preside at the meeting of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society.

MORE SAFETY FOR PEDESTRIANS.—The Transport Minister, Mr. More-Bellah, with the Mayor of Hammersmith, at the official opening yesterday of new pedestrian crossings guarded with railings, at Hammersmith Broadway.—(Daily Sketch.)

HIS LAST TRIP on the Cornish Riviera express from Paddington was made yesterday by Guard Stephens, who is retiring after 31 years' service.—(Daily Sketch.)

IN THE FULL-DRESS UNIFORM they will wear in the Jubilee procession, officers and men of the 3rd Carabiniers (Prince of Wales Dragoon Guards) were inspected at Aldershot by Brigadier-General F. W. Bullock Marsham.

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT, who has just celebrated his 85th birthday, out for his first walk in London yesterday after returning from the coast.

JUBILEE GATES provided for one of the entrances to Regent's Park by a private donor. They will be opened to the public during the week-end.

Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald

ABOVE:—The British Ambassador to China, Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, on board a launch at the start of a trip to the Netherlands East Indies to recuperate from a bullet wound inflicted by a Japanese aviator several months ago.

Her Majesty the Queen, Honorary Colonel of the 14th London Regiment (London Scottish) inspecting the regiment at Buckingham Palace recently.

British Fascist Leader Leaves Hospital

Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, who was recently injured at a mass meeting in Liverpool, Eng., bids the onlookers of the hospital, where he was treated, "Goodbye," as he leaves the building.

Peace Talks Continue

Talks on European peace and security started in three capitals and hope was expressed in London that they might mark the beginning of a turn for the better in Europe's affairs.

King Leopold of Belgium arrived for a three day visit to King George, and it was expected that he would engage in important conversations with Cabinet leaders. Paris reported that Leopold might even offer to preside at the Locarno Treaty conference, designed to replace the Locarno Treaty which guaranteed mutual aid against aggression among the Western powers. Here, it was reported that Leopold might eventually become intermediary between France and Germany.

Lord Halifax, Lord President of the Council in the Cabinet, left for Berlin on a "private" visit during which he is to talk to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and other Nazi Government leaders. Premier Neville Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Lord Halifax talked at length over the week end on topics for the Berlin conversations. It was reported persistently that Eden was angry because of Halifax's selection to make the "private" visit. These reports were discounted, however, particularly in view of Eden's return to London from the Brussels Far Eastern conference to take over the programme with Halifax and Chamberlain.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Lord Halifax

Chamberlain

AS DEATH DREW NIGH FOR 'TIRED OLD MAN'

A "tired old man" is what Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald called himself as he started out on a cruise to the Caribbean and South America—a cruise that death ended in mid-Atlantic. The former Labor prime minister of Great Britain died at sea last week and his body is now en route to his native Largsmouth, Scotland. This photo, the last ever taken of the noted statesman, was snapped as Mr. MacDonald chatted with his daughters, Sheila, right, who accompanied him, and Isabel, prior to his departure from England. He was seemingly in good health when he left, but death came suddenly on the high seas.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA OF ENGLAND

Ordered Johann Hoff's Extract.

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Lady Gairford arriving for the funeral service for Lord Runciman

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN

Cheered in London

Viscount Halifax, British Foreign Minister, who is reported to have been converted by recent events to Anthony Eden's view that only a strong stand against dictators whose ill-faith has been demonstrated can save Europe from disaster. Learning that he was the leader in the Chamberlain Cabinet of the policy of firm resistance to Nazi aggression, crowds cheered him recently in London.

AT LEFT—THE KING inspecting the Second Battalion, Grenadier Guards, of which he is Colonel-in-Chief, after he had presented them with new Colours, bearing 34 battle honors.

Lawrence's Dream True In Speeding Launches

When Lawrence of Arabia, left, died, he was working on plans for fast boats. One of these plans resulted in a new speedboat now testing for a world's record. Other plans were for fast navy torpedo boats. Battleships can cost as much as $40,000,000. Yet these tiny torpedo boats, centre, traveling at more than 45 miles an hour, can deal them a deathblow. Italy has led in the production of these speedy craft which can deliver a torpedo at any speed. Britain now includes the construction of fast torpedo boats in her naval program. Lawrence was one of the first to seize upon the idea of using them in war. When Hubert Scott-Paine, right, gave up his pursuit of the Hornesworth trophy, he turned to the construction of speedy torpedo boats for the British navy.

Elizabeth's Royal Daughters

Elizabeth's daughters are far better-born than she. The heir to the throne is Elizabeth, now 12, whose super-royal manners sometimes make her mother say:

"Yes, you're a royal princess but we hope you'll grow up to be a lady." Above, the Queen, Margaret Rose (left) and Elizabeth step out of Glamis Castle door.

American People

HENRY FORD

JOHN L. LEWIS

This man is C. A. Hartley, 81, who has lived in Pomeroy, O., for 60 years. He has never owned an auto, never touched a steering wheel, never entered a trailer, never smoked a cigaret, never wore a finger ring, never drunk liquor, doesn't own a coat. Since returning from the Spanish-American War 29 years ago he hasn't touched a fire-arm, hasn't killed an animal, a fish or a fowl. He never gets up later than daybreak, never sheds tears but from one eye.

Here are the six men who, in the order named, received the largest number of votes in Liberty's national poll as probable occupants of the White House after January 1, 1941:
1. Franklin D. Roosevelt. 2. Arthur H. Vandenberg. 3. George H. Earle. 4. James A. Farley. 5. Henry A. Wallace. 6. John L. Lewis.

Reuben Maury

John L. Lewis

Mr. Jones and L. C. Sprague, President and Co-Receiver of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad

(Aime Photo.)

Cynthia Coolidge, granddaughter of Calvin Coolidge, with parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Coolidge, in Florida.

And He's No Comic Valentine

Carmen Barth has a Valentine for Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele and wants to be sure the titleholder receives it. Barth, former Olympic star and Golden Gloves boxer, meets the champion in Cleveland Saturday in 15 rounds for the title. Judging from the look on Barth's face, he means business.

(Associated Press Photo.)

Actor
by Georg boy.

SENATOR BORAH
He should make news.

(Associated Press Photo.)

Actor Dick Powell, his wife, Joan Blondell, and her son by George Barnes, her former husband, after Powell adopted boy.

Foreign People

MUSSOLINI LEADS TRIBUTE TO ITALIANS KILLED IN SPANISH WAR

The Fascist legions drawn up in seemingly endless array on the Piazza Venezia, in Rome, provided the spectacular touch for impressive memorial services in honor of the Italian volunteers who fell in action in the Spanish conflict. The services were held as statesmen of Italy, France and Britain attempted to arrange for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the contending armies in Spain. The personification of Italy's martial spirit, Premier Benito Mussolini, dapperly attired in trench helmet and military uniform, stands, right, stiffly at attention, arm raised in the Fascist salute, as his troops paraded in honor of the volunteers killed in Spain.

Foreign

GEN. YVON DUBAIL won the nom de plume of "the savior of Nancy" in 1914, when as commander of the First army in Lorraine he brought troops to the aid of the Second army. In 1916, before he left the front to become military governor of Paris, he stopped a German drive in the Woëvre.

ENVER PASHA, Turkish dictator, promoted himself to minister of war shortly before the outbreak of the World war and led the empire into that conflict on the side of the central powers. He fled Turkey during the debacle of 1918, was killed in 1922 leading a Russian insurrection against the soviets.

GEN. NICHOLAS IVANOV commanded the Russian southwest group of armies during the early triumphs of 1914 in Galicia and through the disasters of 1915. In 1916 he was recalled from the field for staff duties at imperial headquarters.

GEN. OTTO VON EMMICH led the vanguard of German armies into Belgium in 1914 and laid siege to Liege. Later he won note in Galicia and East Prussia. He died in 1915.

PREMIER CHAUMET
OF FRANCE RUSTI-
CATES on his country estate at St. Gervais la Foret.

Agent in Spain

Bringing practical recognition of the Spanish insurgent government by Great Britain though the cabinet extends factual diplomatic recognition will still be withheld, Sir Robert Hodgson (above), has been appointed official commercial agent representing Great Britain in rebel-held Spanish territory. Needing raw materials from Spain to keep her industries busy, Britain has negotiated the agreement for mutual exchange of agents with Gen. Franco's government.

Japanese Ambassador Shigeru Yoshida, photographed leaving the foreign office after visiting Foreign Minister Anthony Eden in connection with the wounding of Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to China.

Acme photo

A FUGITIVE in disguise from Palestine, the grand mufti, spiritual leader of the Arabs, arrives at Beirut, Syria.

Princess Catherine Radziwill
"Russia"

The Maharajah of Patiala leaving his hotel for Buckingham Palace, where he was received in audience by the King yesterday.

Fatherly Kiss

After affixing the stripe of a sub-lieutenant of the Rumanian army, on the shoulder of his son, Crown Prince Michael, King Carol II, bestowed this fatherly kiss on his sixteen-year-old son at Sibiu, Rumania. Following the ceremony of elevation in rank, Carol made a speech before the assembled army officers and other dignitaries, in which he exhorted Michael to be worthy of the uniform he wears.

Associated P
INDIANA'S GOVERNOR TOWNSEND

THE AUSTRIAN MINISTER, Baron Franckenstein, chatting with Tyrolean guides after opening the new Austrian State travel bureau in London.

ADOLF HITLER.

Teutonic guards watch palace.

"Generals, left to right: the late General Mola, General Saliquet, his successor at Madrid, Gen. Quirós de Llano, General Cabanellas, and known intruder.

GENERALISSIMO FRANCO & GENERALS*

International

T. V.
Soong

Mrs. T. V.
Soong

H. H.
Kung

Mrs. Sun
Yat-sen

The late Dr. Sun
Yat-sen

Help to Build a New China

New Ethiopian Viceroy

Pictured in his uniform of Italian flying officer, is the young Duke D'Amato, nephew of the King of Italy, who recently was appointed viceroy of Ethiopia. He succeeds Marshal Graziani, who still suffers from injuries sustained when a Libyana, buried a bomb during a review in Addis Ababa.

Haile Selassie, looking quite dapper in London, lost not only his kingdom but his personal fortune when Italy wrested Ethiopia from him; it is now revealed. A "relief" fund may be raised to aid him.

With all the kingly mien of Oriental royalty, His Highness, the Maharaja of Kapurthala, and his son, H.H. Ticks Sahib, heir to the throne, watch the celebration at Kapurthala of the diamond jubilee of the 65-year-old Indian ruler. One of the most widely travelled of Indian princes, the Maharaja of Kapurthala stands second only to Maharaja Gaskwar in length of reign.

Gen. Iwane Matsui, commander of Japan's marauding military forces in China, is shown on his triumphal entry of Nanking after the city had been wantonly destroyed by shellfire. His troops are lined up in the background.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Marshal von Blomberg, ousted as German war minister after his marriage, with bride, the former Erika Gruhn.

$5,116,500 rolls in annually to the Maharajah of Patiala, premier state in the Punjab. In 1900 he ascended the throne at the age of 10, and since then has controlled the destinies of 1,625,520 people. His Highness represented the Indian princes in the League of Nations in 1925. He served personally with the British in the 1919 Afghanistan campaign.

[Associated Press Photo.]

Duce does goose step (in center) after teaching 10,000 Fascist militiamen to clump it off in preparation for Adolph Hitler's visit next May. Mussolini calls it the Roman step, contending Caesar's legions marched that way. He adopted the style because opponents viewed it as an expression of militarism.

$4,875,000 comes every year from two million subjects of the youthful Maharajah of Jaipur, in Rajputana. At ceremonies, he wears a coat of gold, silver and pearls valued at more than a million dollars, with a headdress of diamonds, emeralds and pearls also costing a million.

$4,450,353 is the annual revenue of the Maharajah of Bikanir, in Rajputana. He is intensely interested in military affairs, and carries the rank of lieutenant-general in the British Army. Now aged 57, he recently celebrated the 50th anniversary of his reign over 936,218 souls.

$3,373,100 a year came to the Nawab of Bahawalpur when, at the age of three, he ascended the gadi (throne) of the largest Mohammedan state in the Punjab. This photo was taken in 1914 when one million subjects celebrated His Highness' tenth birthday.

$2,330,000 is the annual income of the Nawab of Bhopal, in Central India, second in importance only to Hyderabad among the Mohammedan States.

$2,274,000 is the revenue of the sporting Maharajah of Rewar, Central India. He is ruler of 1,587,445 people, and has shot more than 500 tigers on hunts.

$1,955,000 per annum is the rating of the Maharajah of Udaipur, in Rajputana. He exercises full hereditary sway over a population of more than 1,556,910.

$1,137,000 a year pours into the coffers of the Maharajah of Dhar State, in Central India. His Highness was adopted by the Dowager Maharani, and upon her death in 1926, the young man became ruler of 243,521 people.

$1,022,300 annually enables the Maharajah of Rajpipla, in Gujarat, to satisfy his whims for sport and travel. But he also has spent millions for widows and the destitute for extended railways and education of his 206,085 subjects.

Princes of India World's Richest Group

$11,823,097. That's the annual income of the Nizam of Hyderabad. One of the richest men in the world. His personal fortune is $600,000,000. He is the owner of gems worth $150,000,000, including the $2,000,000 Nizam and Victoria diamonds.

$13,348,088. That's the yearly revenue of the Maharajah of Mysore, whose Kolar gold mines yield enormous sums. Ruler over 6,557,302 people.

$10,233,000 goes to the Maharajah of Kashmir-Jammu. His turbans and footwear are adorned with emeralds and diamonds. Owns priceless ropes of paragon pearls. Has 3,645,000 subjects.

$9,837,324 is the revenue of the famous Gaekwar of Baroda. His turbans and uniforms blaze with jewels, some costing as much as $400,000. His immense fortune is derived from the tributes levied upon the tribes of Kathiawar and Gujarat.

Staggering fortunes enable these rajahs to live in splendor beyond imagination, holding power of life and death over millions of subjects

$8,000 is the annual revenue of the Maharajah of Travancore, in Central India. One of the most picturesque of Indian princes, and one of the most powerful.

$8,458,967 is posted beside the name of the Maharajah of Travancore. This potentate has spent staggering sums to place his State in the forefront of educated India.

$7,580,000 is the income derived from 5,000,000 souls by the Maharajah of Nepal. He also receives huge grants from the British. His wife, the Rani of Nepal, is noted for her collection of jewels.

$5,570,000 a year puts the Maharajah of Jodhpur, Rajputana, in the upper brackets. He is only 30 years of age, and rules over a land embracing 2,125,982 people.

$5,116,500 makes the Maharajah of Indore one of the outstanding potentates in Central India. His fortune is in fabulous treasures of silver, diamonds, rubies and sapphires.

DANISH QUEEN CONVALESCENT

Looking very happy to be up and about again, is Queen Alexandrine of Denmark, shown above in her first picture since a recent serious operation. She was on her way from Copenhagen to a convalescence on the French Riviera.

One Year On Way to a Kingship

Prince Harald of Norway seems ably interested as he poses for a picture on his first birthday anniversary. The son of Crown Prince Olaf and Crown Princess Martha, he is heir-presumptive to the throne of Norway.

FRANCE'S NEW ENVOY TO U.S.

His Excellency Count Rene Doyen de Saint-Quentin is the new French ambassador to the United States. He is pictured above as he arrived in New York, en route to Washington to take up his new duties.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt (right) chats with Patricia Ellis, film star, who presented her with a baby orange tree and a box of oranges at the White House.

Haile Selassie

NAZIS CLAIM HE
'INSULTED' THEM

Most illustrious of the many Austrian monarchists arrested by Nazis after the country's annexation by Germany was 65-year-old Archduke Josef Ferdinand of Tuscany, shown, chief of the Hapsburg-Tuscan line. He is the great-uncle of Archduke Otto, pretender to the Austrian throne. Nazis who arrested him near Salzburg charged he had made insulting remarks about the Nazi regime.

Mussolini and Hitler, whose alliance is threatened by changing conditions.

Duke of Kent, After Australian Post,
To Become Canada's Governor-General
As Desired By Late King George V

Above are seen the Duke and Duchess of Kent and their two children, Prince Edward and Princess Alexandra.

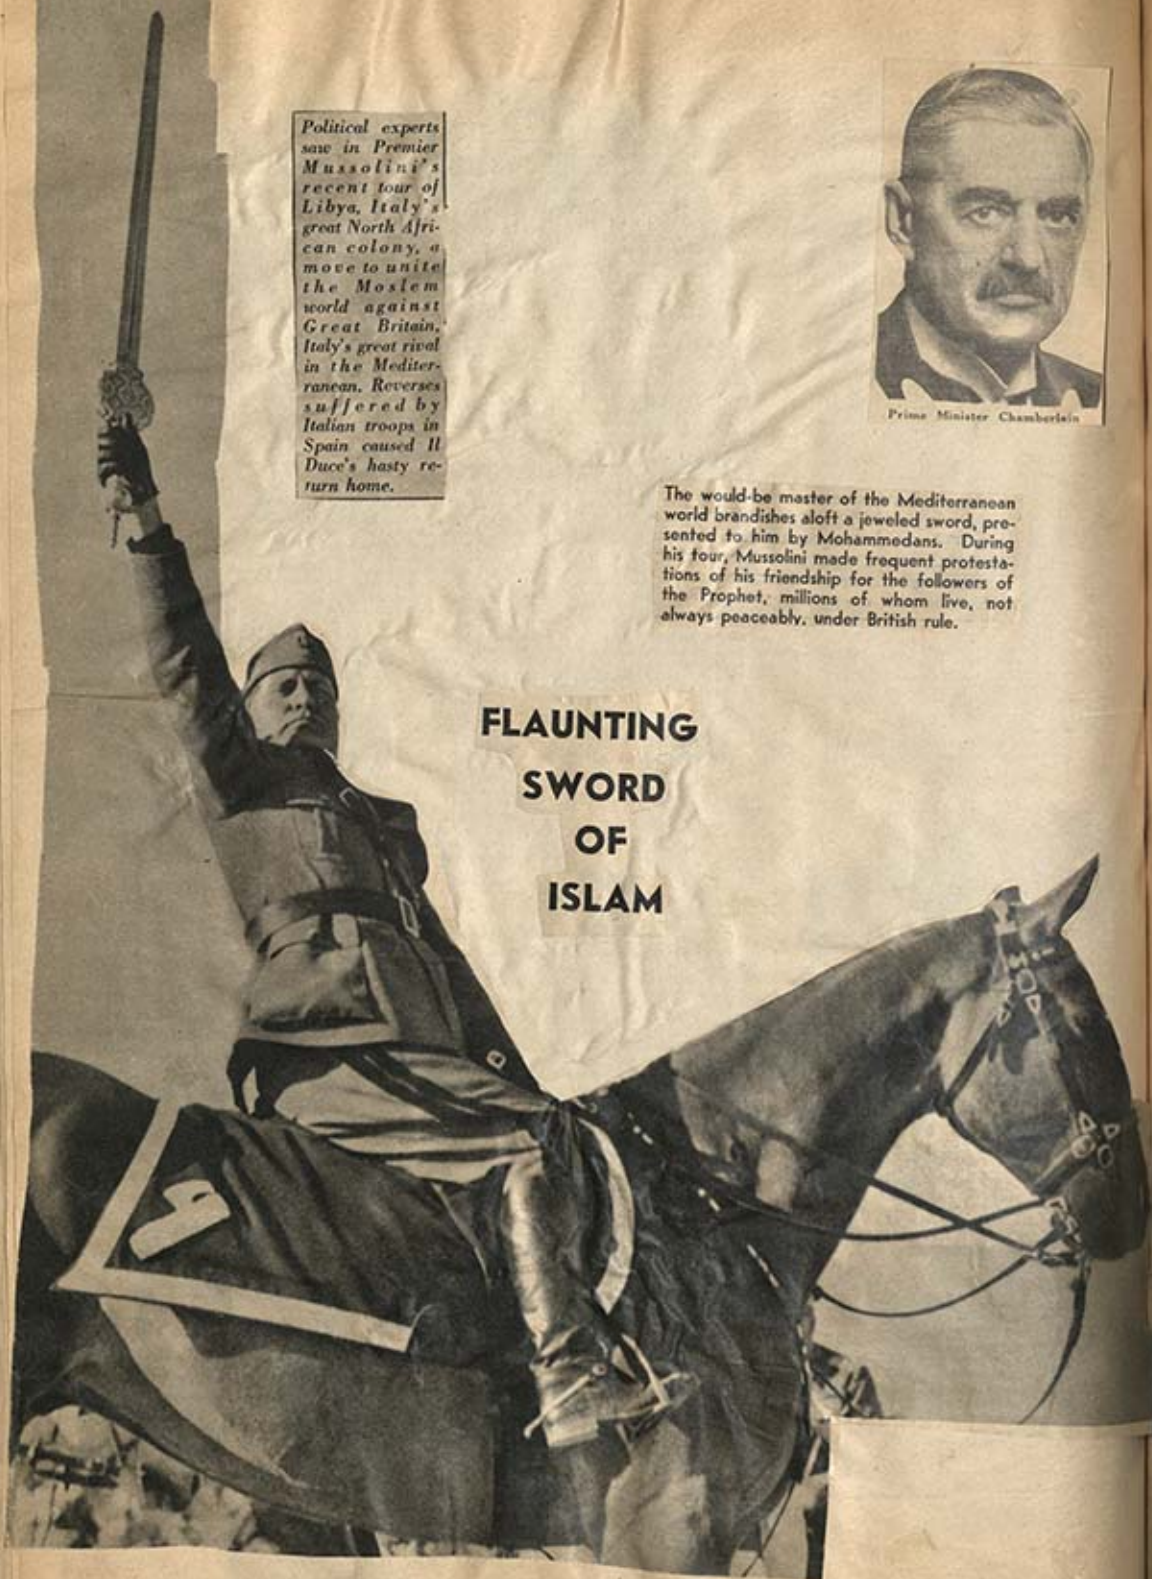

Political experts saw in Premier Mussolini's recent tour of Libya, Italy's great North African colony, a move to unite the Moslem world against Great Britain, Italy's great rival in the Mediterranean. Reverses suffered by Italian troops in Spain caused Il Duce's hasty return home.

Prime Minister Chamberlain

The would-be master of the Mediterranean world brandishes aloft a jeweled sword, presented to him by Mohammedans. During his tour, Mussolini made frequent protestations of his friendship for the followers of the Prophet, millions of whom live, not always peaceably, under British rule.

FLAUNTING SWORD OF ISLAM

Arab tribesmen of Italy's colonial army stage a spirited cavalry charge on the Libyan plains in honor of Mussolini. The charge was part of mimic war maneuvers, in which real shells were used.

Flag waving children lined the curb to greet Mussolini at Zlitan in Libya. The Premier responded with one of his rare smiles. It left the two little tots shown here practically spellbound.

Four men to whom the whole world looks for peace got together in Munich yesterday. Above, you see Herr Chamberlain and Signor Mussolini driving through the city. Right: Mr. Chamberlain acknowledging the cheers on his arrival.

M. DALADIER, received by Herr von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, at Munich Aerodrome. The French Premier, like Mr. Chamberlain, was driven through crowds of cheering people and he heard "The Marseillaise."

ADVERTISER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

A BIG farewell cheer from Lord Halifax as Mr. Chamberlain left Heston send-off by all the members of his Cabinet. Before he flew off they wished him good luck. Mr. Chamberlain then walked to his plane through

The Premier had a surprise round him, cheering and wishing him a lane of handshakes.

Czechs Stand By With Men And Machines

The Prague government, in ignoring the Sudeten German ultimatum on Tuesday implied that Czechoslovakia was prepared to defend her honor against the most formidable threats of any country since the dark hours which preceded Germany's entry into Belgium in 1914. Besides relying on France, her direct ally, she also hoped support from Great Britain and Russia—and her own armaments. Above pictures were taken during the current Czech manoeuvres. Top—Modern motor lorries at the frontier. Bottom—Field gunners in sham warfare.

Aided Nazi Rearmament

Montagu Norman, chairman of the Bank of England, who facilitated loans to Germany which in effect aided Nazi rearmament. Mr. Norman's policy has been strongly opposed by a group of bankers of the City of London, but his policy has prevailed. He has been commonly credited with strong pro-Nazi sympathies.

THE CAMERA OVERSEAS: MUSSOLINI MARRIES OFF A SON AND NEPHEW

After Son Vittorio's wedding Feb. 6 to pretty, poor Orsola Carla Buvoli of Milan, three marched to St. Peter's (from front to back) Papa Mussolini and Mama Buvoli; Mussolini Son-in-Law Count Ciano and Mama Mussolini (rarely photographed); Vittorio's best man, Vitalini-Saccone, and Mussolini Daughter Edda Ciano; two unidentified relatives. Two days later Mussolini's nephew, Vito, was married in the same church as Vittorio by the same priest.

Vittorio & Orsola, both blessed, get a dagger salute from Mussolini Musketeers as the couple leave the church.

Papa Mussolini expansively squires his son Vittorio's new mother-in-law, Signora Buvoli, at the Rome wedding.

Vito & Silvia di Rosa, his bride, issue from the same Roman church under the same daggers only two days later.

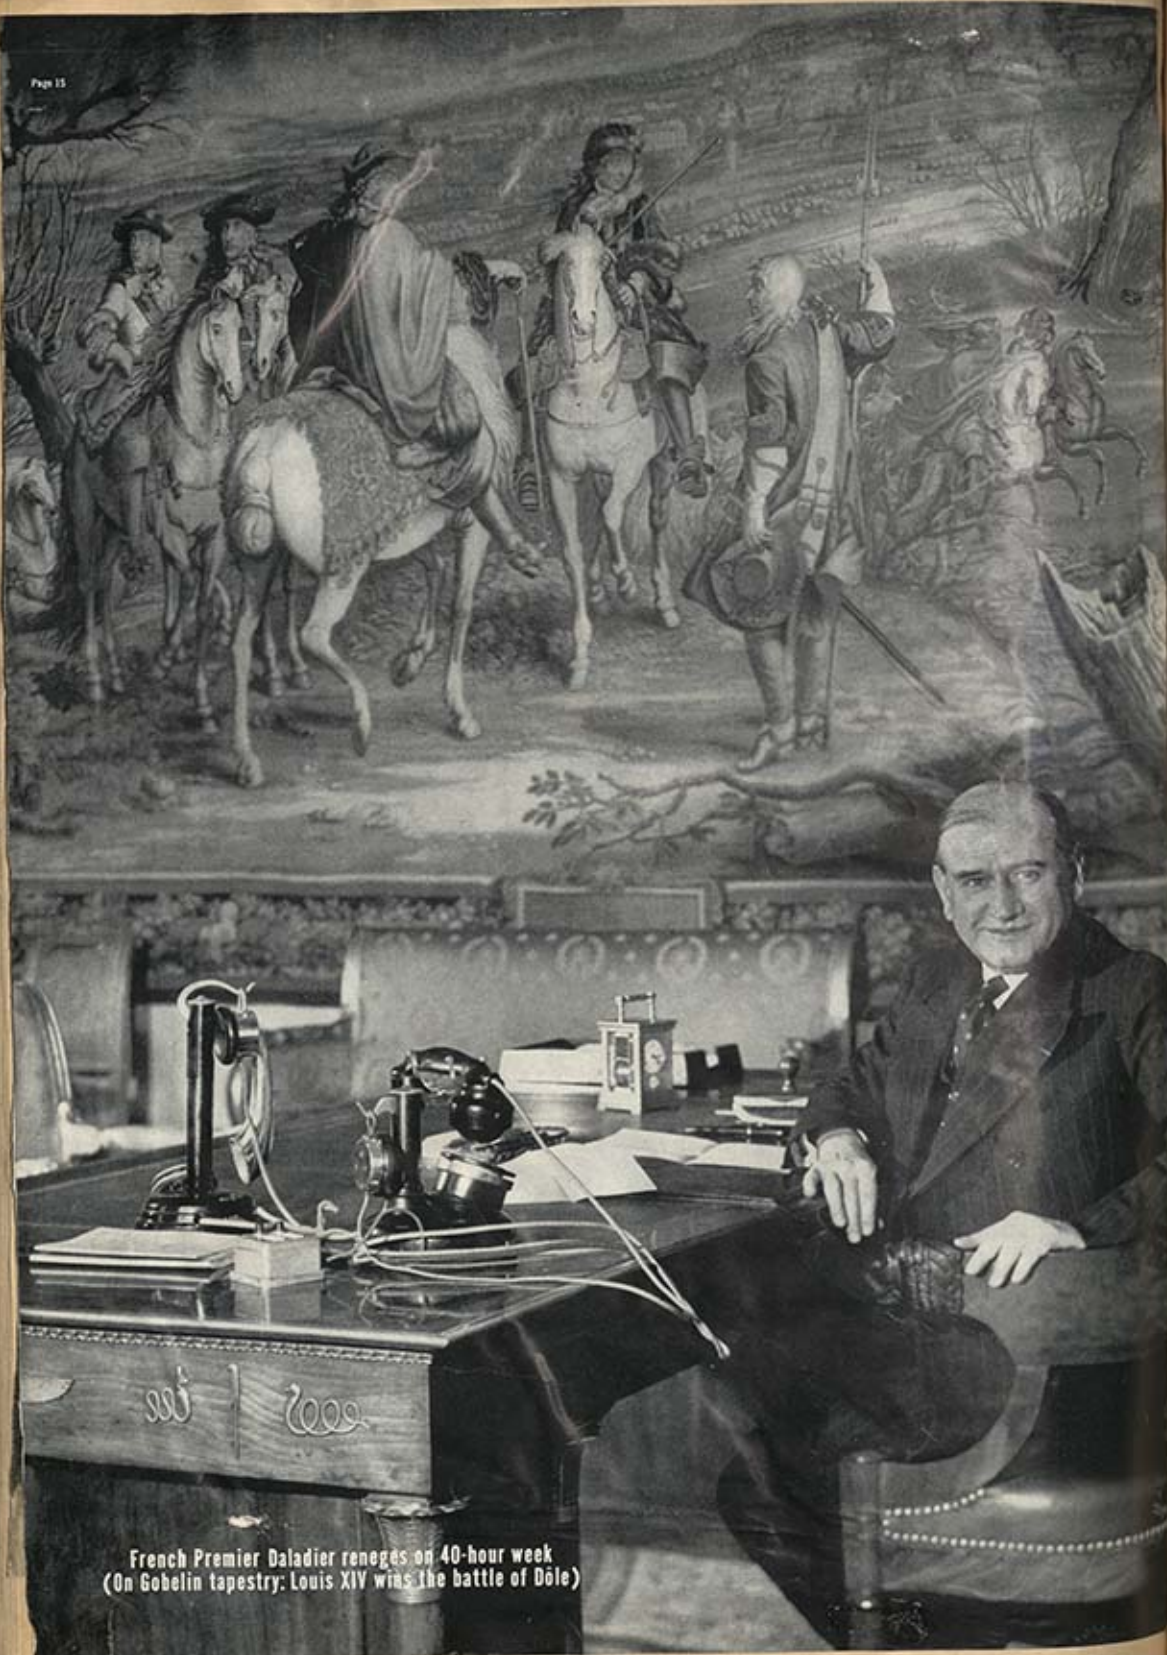

Vittorio & Orsola, with Il Duce looming at left, kneel in St. Joseph's, where Sister Edda was married in 1930.

Mama Mussolini (center) enjoyed her rare outing in public, with Son-in-Law and Daughter Countess Edda Ciano.

Vito & Silvia kneel in the same place as Vittorio & Orsola two days later, backed by Uncle Benito and Count Ciano.

French Premier Daladier reneges on 40-hour week
(On Gobelin tapestry: Louis XIV wins the battle of Dole)

In midsummer most young people, in most countries of the world, are content to relax and have fun. In some countries, this summer, they are marching or fighting. But among the world's youth there are always some with as little taste for idling as for war. From all over the globe a little band of 330 such serious-minded youths arrived to swelter in New York for the Second World Youth Congress, firmly resolved to promote peace.

LIFE here presents the faces of some of their leaders, snapped during meetings at Vassar College between Aug. 16 and 24. The faces are as unlike as the peoples of the earth but beneath the racial characteristics a psychologist might see in all of them the confused idealism of the perennial youth crusader.

Russia sent no delegates, neither did Germany and Italy. The Catholic News and Senator Dies cried "Red." But in actual fact its majority politics were democratic and liberal. After eight days of speechmaking, the Congress drew up a "peace pact" which proclaimed Youth's "solemn duty to promote the welfare of Mankind." Most of the delegates were smiling valiantly, but many confessed that they went away disappointed and muddled. Behind their smiles they look it.

INDIA

Resu Roy, 23, declared that the caste system is fast disappearing in India. She has studied at University of Cambridge, will teach English literature at Calcutta High School.

UNITED STATES

Joseph Cadden, 23, chairman of U. S. delegation, was a leader of his class at Brown University. He stoutly defended the Congress against Red-baiting "peanut politicians."

JAPAN

Yoko Matsunaka, 23, represented Japan though she went to high school in Cleveland, is now at Swarthmore College. She apologized: "Japan doesn't know how to bring about peace."

CHINA

Y. Young, 26, leader of China's 27 delegates, came direct from the war zone to report on the work of organizing Chinese youth to fight Japan. He edits two publications.

HAITI

Laura Cadet, 21, an upperclass mulatto from Port-au-Prince, studies at Columbia University. She plans next year to teach home economics in the backwoods schools of Haiti.

WEST AFRICA

M. F. Dei Anang, 28, comes from a rich rubber-planting family at Mampong in the Gold Coast where he teaches school. He says: "Africans are not all asinine and doltish."

... THESE ARE THE FACES OF WORLD YOUTH

FINLAND

Derrick Siven, 25, is a post-graduate history student at Ichingfies University. His smile is honest, for in Scandinavia youth groups are important in popular education.

SPAIN

Margarita Robles, 18, youngest delegate present, was sent by a Barcelona high school. Her father, once a professor at Johns Hopkins, was killed fighting for Loyalist Spain.

ENGLAND

Michael Wallace, 21, son of Novelist Edgar Wallace, says: "I want to write, but not fiction. Economics is my interest." He is publicity director for the Youth Congress.

FRANCE

Danielle Casanova, 25, one of 80 French delegates, represented an organization called "Young Girls of France." Though married, Danielle is a practicing dentist in Paris.

PALESTINE

Ralf Khuri, 27, Arab delegate, was very friendly with the two Jews from Palestine, Mamed Arab-Jewish trouble in the Holy Land on British imperialism. He writes books.

DENMARK

Margo Peterson, 27, was full of fine schemes for: 1) an international youth magazine in three languages; 2) youth tours; 3) "peace camps" for young travelers in Europe.

Amusement

To Mark Golden Jubilee

IN "GOLDEN ARROW," just produced at the Whitehall Theatre, Greer Garson (left) and Cecil Parker have prominent parts.

JOSEF HOFMANN

World renowned pianist, who is the only instrumentalist to celebrate a golden jubilee tour in America. Josef Hofmann, now at the peak of his career and unanimously acclaimed the world's greatest pianist, will give a gala concert on November 28 at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, which was the scene of his sensational American debut November 29, 1887. As all seats for his forthcoming New York jubilee concert have already been sold, chairs have been placed in the orchestra pit to accommodate some of the throng unable to secure regular seats. Insert, as Josef Hofmann appeared at the age of 10 on the occasion of his American debut.

OLGA LINDO and Trevor Howard in "The Skin Game," revived at the Playhouse.

MARLENE DIETRICH in the new film "The Devil is a Woman," showing at the Plaza.

As lovers of a bygone day in "Maytime"—Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald.

Anita Louise and Sir Cedric Hardwicke in "The Green Light."

Kay Francis with Ian Hunter in "Another Dawn."

Sylvia Sydney and Henry Fonda do fine work in the ironical story of a young couple who try to make good despite grave obstacles in "You Only Live Once."

A penetrating light unmasks the sinister activities of a secret clan in "The Black Legion," with splendid performances given by Erin O'Brien-Moore and Humphrey Bogart.

Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in one film will certainly attract attention—especially in the roles of Irish statesman and the woman who had the greatest influence on his life—in "Parnell."

GABLE • MYRN

the yard, shaking heavy hand. The naked,
y old eyes they air
ye been doctoring
The Hornbeak

ALASKA Land of Adventure

(above) Farnell bravely defends his honor in Parliament against the shameless attacks of his enemies...

...right Edna May Oliver... familiar than ever as Katie
O'Brien's haughty chaperone...

(above) Farnell refuses to deny his love for beautiful
Katie O'Brien...and his political career is ruined!

JASPER

GLORIA STUART.

Number
Class

BABE RUTH

Sport

Dan Howley expects to give Toronto a winning team.

EDDIE SHORE

Prep Grid Star Has Amazing Record

Bill de Corveent shouldn't have much trouble arranging for his college education. The 18-year-old Austin high school star of Chicago, Ill., is the brightest football and general athletic star ever produced in the history of Chicago's prep school competition and skilled observers are acclaiming him as the greatest in the United States. In his four years of football de Corveent has made a touchdown in every game from his first freshman contest. In one game he made nine touchdowns out of the 10 times he carried the ball, and more than half the runs he has made have been 50 yards or more.

JOE LOUIS STRIKES BACK

BY GENE KESSLER

READING TIME
8 MINUTES 33 SECONDS

Sports

d Master' of Billiards in Action During Title Defense

William Hoppe, "The Old Master" of billiards, is shown here making one of his favorite shots, as Jake Schaefer, his opponent, looks on. Hoppe, who has been in competition for 25 years and now, at 50, is conducting a successful defense of his title, was leading Schaefer by more than 200 points at one stage of the match, being played in New York for the world's 1st halftone billiard title. Paradoxically, Schaefer's late father was Hoppe's tutor.

GREYHOUND RACING TRIALS at Harringway. Brave Punch and Brave Liz, offspring of Brave Enough, getting off the mark in a 500 yards trial.

Daniel Prens in play at Bournemouth. Inset: F. J. Perry.

Few speedway fans will recognise this as Jack Sharp, the Wimbledon rider. He is having electrical treatment at the Wimbledon Stadium.

Trips, the last outsider to win the Derby, beating Walter Gay in 1926.

Hugh Stirling Leads All Scorers

The scoring honors for the 1927 gridiron season go to Hugh "Thunder" Stirling of Bernia Imperials. He is probably the greatest kicker in Canadian football and his trusty right foot has proved it by the total of points he chalked up this season—36 all told. His kicking ability is plainly shown by his versatility in any scoring duties in the game. He scored two touchdowns, three field goals, six points and eleven singles during the present season. This is half proof that he is a dangerous man on any football squad. He is shown here as he removed the heavy boot from his educated kicking foot.

H. Jackson

HERE FOR ICE CARNIVAL

THE SIMPSON SISTERS

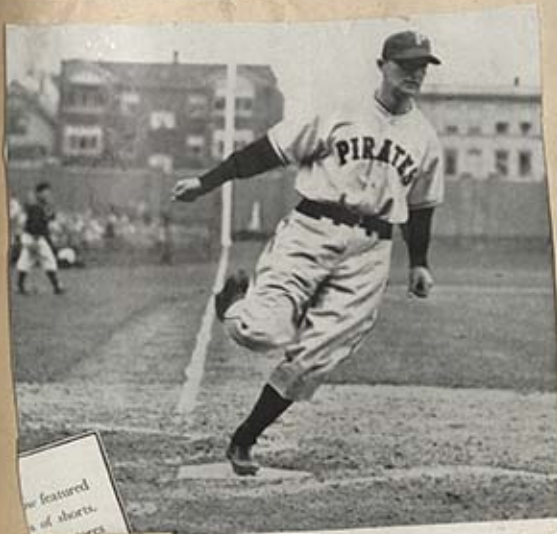

Arriving in Calgary on Friday, the famous Simpson Sisters of Banff, Margaret and Mary, will be seen at Victoria Arena Saturday night in the first program of the annual Lions' Club Happy Days Ice Carnival. They come here direct from a successful tour of major United States cities, including New York. They will also give their great display of figure-skating Monday night.

TOMMY ARMOUR.
He'll play at Pinchurst.

LOU GEHRIG

Paul Waner, heavy-hitting star of the Pittsburgh Pirates. "I take my hat off to the new Gripper fasteners," Paul says. "They're handier than buttons on shorts and always stay on the job."

Jumping Joe Shows Little Joe

Jumping Joe Savoldi, wrestler and former Notre Dame star full back, gives his son, Joe Jr., a golfing lesson in their hotel room in Paris. Savoldi has been on a world tour for nearly two years and now is campaigning in France.

CANADA'S CHAMPION COWBOY, Herman Linder of Cordston, Alta., shows Hughie Long of Battleford, Sask., the championship saddle, which is awarded the best rider at the Madison Square Garden rodeo every year.

PETE FORRESTER of Calgary rides out of the chute at the Madison Square Garden rodeo aboard Smokey

FOREMOST ATHLETE 1938

Don Budge had a new honor to add to this galaxy of trophies, won during 1938 on tennis courts of the world, in a United States wide poll conducted by the Associated Press, he was named the country's foremost athlete of 1938, the same honor he won in 1937.

VIOLET CLEMENT, one of the Canadian cowgirls who entered the rodeo, whispers a word of encouragement to her horse

Alto, which
y year

1938 honor

y of 1938 world.
e poll
ciated
d the lete of e won

